Families Living O ut the Word in E veryday R outines

As adults, we seek to guide our children and youth to make good and healthy decisions. Life is filled with choices, some more routine and easier than others, but choices just the same. We want happiness for ourselves and our children and we recognize that wisdom is needed for healthy choices. Often, like the young man in the gospel, we are saddened by what might be necessary to close one door and open another, yet we need to ask the questions and hear the answers. Like, Jesus, we look at your children, grandchildren, Godchildren and youth with love and compassion as we challenge them in their choices.

FAMILY PERSPECTIVE: In our family we are taught to respond to the needs of each other. But it does not stop there. Today's gospel reminds us we have responsibility to our brothers and sisters across the world who are not from our immediate family. Families are designed to be launching pads, not dead ends.
